14. JURISDICTION

Governing Law and Dispute Settlement

a. In the event that any disagreement arises between the parties in connection with this agreement or any matter arising thereto which the parties cannot agree upon, then any party (the "initiating party") can invoke the dispute resolution procedure by sending a written notice to the other party (the "Responding party") describing the nature of the dispute and designating an officer of the initiating party with appropriate authority to be its representative in negotiations relating to the dispute. The Responding party shall, within ten (10) working days of the receipt of such notice, send a written notice to the initiating party, designating an officer of the Responding party with appropriate authority to be its representative in negotiations relating to the dispute.

b. Within ten (10) working days of the receipt by the initiating party of the written notice of the Responding party, the representatives of each party shall enter into good faith negotiations relating to the dispute. If the dispute is not resolved within eighteen (18) working days of the commencement of such negotiations, or such longer period as may be agreed upon, either party may, by written notice to the other party, terminate the negotiations and refer the matter to the Arbitrator.

c. All disputes arising in any way out of or affecting this agreement shall be referred to arbitration under the rules of Arbitration of the Lagos court of Arbitration from time to time before a single arbitrator whose decisions shall be final. The seat of arbitration shall be Lagos Nigeria. The Applicable law is the Lagos state Arbitration Law, all proceedings shall be in English language.

d. This agreement shall be construed in all aspects as subject to Nigeria Laws, the rights of the parties under this agreement shall be governed by the substituting laws in Nigeria.

14. FORCE MAJEURE

Either party shall not be liable or be deemed to be in breach of this agreement by any reason of any delay in performing or any failure to perform any obligations under this agreement if the delay or failure was due to any cause beyond reasonable control of the party in question. Without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing the following shall be regarded as caused beyond the reasonable control of either party or, as the case may be, of a sub-contractor of SKN or the Company

a. Act of God or accident;
b. War or threat of war, Pandemic, Lockdown, sabotage, civil disturbance or requisition;
c. Acts, restrictions, regulations, byelaws, prohibitions, or measures of any kind on the part of any governmental, parliamentary or local authority;
d. Import and export regulations or embargoes;
e. Strikes, lockouts or other industrial actions or trade disputes, whether involving employees of SKN / Company

In any such circumstances or in the event of any other matter beyond the control of either party, such party shall immediately the force majeure arises give written notice to the other party declaring that the work or matter is not capable of being completed and shall be deemed to be frustrated from the date of such notice.

Should force majeure continue for a period of more than ninety (90) days, then either party will be entitled to cancel parts of this agreement affected by force majeure forthwith.

15. DEBTORS / DUMPED ITEMS

Where a Client fails to make payment for storage, services, or any other financial obligation under this Agreement when due, Storagekings Ng shall issue follow-up reminders through calls, emails, and formal written demand notices to the Client's last known contact details.

If, after repeated follow-ups, written demand notices, emails, phone calls, and other reasonable communication attempts, the Client fails to:

- Respond to calls, emails, or written notices;
- Make full payment of the outstanding amount; or
- Provide written communication proposing a reasonable and mutually agreed repayment arrangement;

within sixty (60) days from the date the payment became overdue, such failure shall constitute a material default under this Agreement, and the goods in storage shall be deemed abandoned and/or dumped.

Upon expiration of the sixty (60) day period without satisfactory response or payment, StorageKings Ng shall have the right, without further notice to the Client, to:

1. Take possession and full control of the items;
2. Sell, auction, liquidate, or otherwise dispose of the items in a commercially reasonable manner;
3. Apply the proceeds toward recovery of all outstanding storage fees, accrued penalties, administrative costs, auction expenses, legal costs, and any other sums owed under this Agreement.

Where the proceeds of sale are insufficient to cover the total outstanding debt, the Client shall remain liable for the balance.

Where the proceeds exceed the outstanding amount, any surplus shall be held for a period of thirty (30) days for collection by the Client, after which such surplus shall be forfeited to offset administrative and handling costs.

The Client hereby irrevocably waives any claim against StorageKings Ng arising from the sale, auction, or disposal of items under this clause, provided that the StorageKings Ng acts in good faith and in accordance with this Agreement.

16. CONFIDENTIALITY AND RESTRAINT

a. Each party, including its employees, is under a duty not to disseminate, or use for its own purpose during the term of the Agreement, any "confidential information" imparted to a party by the other party other than in the normal course of business. Confidential information in regard to these contractual obligations will mean any information imparted to a party by the other party in writing and designated therein as confidential information except;

i. Information which is or becomes known publicly through no fault of the other party;

ii. Information learned by the other party from a third party entitled to disclose it;

iii. Information already known to the other party before receipt from or development for the disclosing party as shown by the receiving party's written record.
